

Yorel Boss

My career aspiration when I applied for the Summer Internship Program was uncertain, but I had an interest in the field of Biomedical Sciences. The AnnieRuth Foundation certainly took this interest and allowed me the opportunity to explore that field a little more by getting me in contact with biomedical engineering students, as well as an entire league of engineers who gave me valuable knowledge about the field of study and what it takes to pursue it. I, however, was committed to coming to USF (University of South Florida) for a summer semester and would be out of town during the internship. Luckily, I was paired up with Mr. Mario Payne, CEO of TOAMS Financial. This pairing was specifically tailored to my experience and was an excellent choice for allowing me to attend college and have my internship experience based on one of my interests: gaming!

Mr. Mario, I, and his team collaborated in creating E-Books, Videos, and other helpful resources for gamers who wanted to venture into the world of finance. This project was awesome because we used so many new tools, like ChatGPT and InVideo to make easily accessible media for everyone on the web to view and learn. I also learned during my internship the importance of fulfilling the requests of your supervisors and being punctual in the world of business.

I am incredibly grateful for the opportunity to participate in the AnnieRuth Summer Internship Program. I say this because the wealth of knowledge I received constantly is unparalleled by any other opportunity out there. From lessons in Formality, Business Etiquette, Resume Building, self-care, with real-world experience tailored to your own interests as a cherry on top; AnnieRuth truly gave me so many tools I plan to continue to use throughout my entire adult professional career. Thank you ARF and Ms. Dee Wilcox for an amazing experience!
